

Vestments by John Reimringer

* A MIDWEST CONNECTIONS PICK ****

Exploring age-old and yet urgently contemporary issues in the Catholic Church, and infused throughout by a rich sense of the history and vibrant texture of Saint Paul, this is an utterly honest and subtly lyrical novel. A major debut.

“In this potent debut about a wayward yet devout young priest who struggles to reconcile his faith with longings of the flesh, Reimringer has crafted a suspenseful, illuminating, and highly readable saga.”
—Publishers Weekly, STARRED review

“Deeply rooted in history, burning with family furies, and told by a narrator-priest you find yourself rooting for (and wondering about), this is a captivating novel, scene by scene.”
—Patricia Hampl, author of The Florist’s Daughter

“John Reimringer’s writing is exquisite. Each and every word is precisely what it should be.”
—Nancy Simpson, Book Vault, Oskaloosa, IA

“This is truly a masterful and flawless first novel.”
—Carl Hoffman, Boswell Book Company, Milwaukee, WI

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

A former newspaper editor and a graduate of the MFA program at the University of Arkansas, JOHN REIMRINGER lives in Saint Paul, Minnesota, with his wife, the poet Katrina Vandenberg. Vestments is his first novel.

Learn more at www.johnreimringer.com

VESTMENTS

By John Reimringer

ISBN: 978-1-57131-080-4 • $25 • Hardcover

Distributed by Publishers Group West

milkweed
editions

