Twin Cities* is an emotionally rich book of poems

about how things double—by reflection, by reproduction, by severance. The poems embark from the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, divided by a legendary river, and move on to the parallel histories of a life lived and a life imagined—and the random intersection of the two.

An acclaimed novelist and poet, Carol Muske-Dukes' previous collection, Sparrow—a haunting elegy for her late husband—was a finalist for the National Book Award.

“Exploding with capacity and ambition, Carol Muske-Dukes’s new poems are the strongest yet from a poet whose work has long been essential reading.”

—Jorie Graham

CAROL MUSKE-DUKES is the author of seven books of poetry, four novels, and two collections of essays. She is professor of English and creative writing at the University of Southern California and was appointed Poet Laureate of California in 2008.
