

A MIDWEST CONNECTIONS PICK

A librarian and a young boy obsessed with reading take to the road in this delightfully funny and moving debut novel.

“Makkai’s probing novel reminds us that literature matters because it helps us discover ourselves while exploring the worlds of others.”

—Chicago Tribune

“An appealing, nonromantic love story about an unexpected pairing—and a surprisingly moving one.”

—The New York Times

“A wise and likable tale about the difficulty of protecting a precocious imagination.”

—The Wall Street Journal

“[A] delightfully quirky debut.”

—Good Housekeeping

“How could any reader of any age resist Rebecca Makkai’s charming The Borrower?”

—O, The Oprah Magazine

“Rarely is a first novel as smart and engaging and learned and funny and moving as The Borrower.”

“The Borrower is full of books, libraries, cross-country hijinks, accidental parenting, love gone wrong, and friendships gone right.”

—Hannah Tinti, author of The Good Thief
