

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

Once More to the Rodeo

by Calvin Hennick

“Powerful ... hilarious and deeply moving.”

-- Celeste Ng, #1 New York Times bestselling author of Little Fires Everywhere

Calvin Hennick

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

Such a Fun Age

by Kiley Reid

“An exquisitely choreographed train wreck of class, race, and the hair’s breadth generational gap between millennials and slightly-older-millennials. Woe to they who doesn’t make space for Such a Fun Age at the top of their TBR pile...”

-- Charlotte Colaluca, bookseller at Mystery to Me

Kiley Reid

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

The Gimmicks

by Chris McCormick

"Chris McCormick is a novelist of uncommon vision, empathy, and purpose. The Gimmicks crosses continents and decades to tell a remarkable story of historical trauma, friendship, and the moral combat of professional wrestling. Though haunted by ghosts, The Gimmicks is brilliantly, boisterously alive."

-- Anthony Marra, author of A Constellation of Vital Phenomena

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

The Heap

by Sean Adams

"Somehow both timely and timeless, The Heap explores with heart what it means to live in the wake of strange new kinds of catastrophe."

-- Seth Fried, author of The Municipalists

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.