

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

Little Faith

by Nickolas Butler

"Fans of Richard Russo and Jan Karon will appreciate Butler's sense of place, which lets seasonal shifts and harvest cycles propel the novel forward. Little Faith is quietly and deeply moving."

—Booklist

Nickolas Butler

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

Chronicles of a Radical Hag

by Lorna Landvik

"A comic love letter to journalism and literature, Lorna Landvik's newest novel is smart, funny, and intimate, with a terrifically memorable cast of small-town characters. Read the book, then head for the kitchen and start baking. Delicious!"

—Julie Schumacher, author of The Shakespeare Requirement

Lorna Landvik

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

Beautiful Bad

by Annie Ward

"Harrowing.... Evocative descriptions and strong senses of time and place complement the intricate, intelligent plot, which shocks and chills."

—Publishers Weekly, starred review

Annie Ward

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

Beginnings: The Homeward Journey

by Thomas J. Peacock

"Blending history, storytelling and personal reflection, this tender story is a reminder that our ties to family and place can survive even the deepest loss."

—Diane Wilson, author of Spirit Car: Journey to a Dakota Past

Thomas J. Peacock

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.