

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

Virgil Wander

by Leif Enger

“Virgil Wander is a fast-paced, humorous and mystical novel about hope, friendship, love and the relationship between a town and its people.”

—Bookpage

Leif Enger

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

A Cloud in a Shape of a Girl

by Jean Thompson

“Intense, compassionate, and satisfying, Thompson’s novel is filled with real, complex characters whose destinies are inextricably tied to the women in their lives.”

—Publishers Weekly

Jean Thompson

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

A Key to Treehouse Living

by Elliot Reed

“William sets off down river in a Huck Finn-esque journey that takes him physically and emotionally through mystical and awe-inspiring spaces. . . . giving a book about existential darkness an undeniable sense of beauty and wonder.”

—Shelf Awareness starred review

Elliott Reed

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.

MIDWEST CONNECTIONS

Evergreen Tidings from the Baumgarteners

by Gretchen Anthony

“If you’re a fan of modern film classics such as The Royal Tenenbaums and Moonrise Kingdom, get ready to meet your new favorite book.”

—Kristin Harmel, author of The Life Intended

Gretchen Anthony

For more information, visit www.MidwestBooksellers.org.