

A MIDWEST CONNECTIONS PICK

In 1993, Milkweed Editions published Montana 1948, which was awarded the Milkweed National Fiction Prize and went on to become a national bestseller.

This October, Larry Watson returns to Milkweed Editions with a stunning new novel American Boy, a classic tale of desire, betrayal, and coming-of-age.

“A soft but urgent rendering of a young man coming of age in rural America that is recognizable to even those of us who were never there.”

—Denver Post

“Watson’s latest book may be his best yet. Youthful passions, heartbreaks, loyalties and moral uncertainties are all rendered in vivid color.”

—DAVID RHODES, author of Driftless

“[Watson will] harvest a bumper crop of readers this autumn.”

—Milwaukee Journal Sentinel

“A gripping, poignant coming-of-age story that opens with a gunshot that will ultimately bury its bullet in your heart. American Boy is an American classic.”

—BENJAMIN PERCY, author of The Wilding

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Larry Watson is the author of seven widely acclaimed novels, including the best-selling Montana 1948, which was awarded the Milkweed National Fiction Prize and a Best Book citation by the American Library Association, short-listed for the IMPAC Dublin International Award, and published in ten foreign editions. He lives in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, with his family. For more, see larry-watson.com.

AMERICAN BOY

By Larry Watson

ISBN: 978-1-57131-078-1 • $24 • Hardcover

October 2011 • Distributed by Publishers Group West

milkweed
editions

